Bordeaux First Growth Tasting

It's something that I'm often asked: are those high-end wines really worth it? A question that can be rather hard to answer, especially when you consider how the prices for the greatest wines in the world are outstripping inflation in no uncertain terms.

A once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to taste eight of the world's greatest wines

Are they worth their hefty new price tags? With demand exceeding supply, the discussion can be somewhat obsolete. The relevant question, of course, is what are these wines like? They are, in fact, unique expressions of their place and time, and inherently magical; the smell of a glass of Lafite is unforgettable, the intrigue and precision of the Latour quite remarkable, the effervescent beauty of the Mouton-Rothschild unsurpassed.

And the point of all this? Ardent lovers of fine wine that we are, we've decided to conduct the Tasting of a Lifetime, the like of which has not been seen in these parts for many years, an extremely rare opportunity to taste your way through seven magnificent red Bordeaux, including all five of the legendary 1st Growths from the 1855 Classification: Chateau Latour, Chateau Margaux, Chateau Haut-Brion, with the Chateau Mouton Rothschild and Chateau Lafite Rothschild coming from the extraordinary 2009 and 2010 vintages, the most expensive in history.

We will compare them with Saint-Émilion's two greatest wines, Chateau Cheval Blanc and Chateau Ausone, concluding the evening with the king of Sauternes, the acclaimed Chateau d'Yquem. We'll hone your tastebuds, too, on Pol Roger's superb premium cuvée, the Sir Winston Churchill, before you embark upon this serious vinous journey.

If you wanted to pop down the road and purchase them all, you'd need around a cool $20,000 in your back pocket. For $699 you get to try the lot. If you're an aficionado, this will be an experience you'll remember forever.

CHATEAU Mouton-Rothschild 42010
PAUILLAC 2009

RRP $4,999 NOW $2,650

Rated 99+ by Robert Parker, this is Mouton-Rothschild at its very finest. 88% Cabernet Sauvignon, it can appear approachable when still quite young, but really, this is going to age gracefully for 50 years or more, so you'd probably be giving it some serious time in the cellar. Each year the label is by a different artist, with the 2009 by British sculptor Anish Kapoor.

MARLBOROUGH'S GRASS ROOTS SUCCESS STORY

CHRIS GAMBITSIS

Former Wellington restaurateur Chris Gambitsis and his ex-police detective windsurfing mate Phil Binnie have come a long way. Gambo: 'Phil and I enjoyed drinking and exploring wine styles, but what we really wanted to do was make wine, so we decided to buy a vineyard.' Simple, really.

Aided by the ridiculously talented Matt Thomson, Gambo and Phil have transformed their initial 11.5 hectare investment – the Falcon Vineyard – into a sprawling enterprise involving a number of vineyard sites and boasting a legion of fans the world over.

Gambo: 'Our philosophy is to make the best possible wine, so our vineyards are sustainably managed and we adopt a minimalist wine-making approach to let the purity of the fruit shine through.'

Great wines, great guys, a no-sell-out, privately owned Marlborough success story.

CASE OF 12 $19.49 A BOTTLE

Intense, tropical, the gold-medalling Raptor is packed with grassy, mineral-tinged aromas and rich flavours. Sourced from several Waihopi Valley sites, the sum is indeed considerably more than its parts. Effortlessly poised and balanced, it develops beyond the mid-palate to display an abundance of subtle nuances that linger on through to the long, fresh finish. Superb with seafood.

was $24.99 now $19.99 13631

CASE OF 12 $18.99 A BOTTLE

A blend of Nelson and Marlborough fruit, this is a great value Pinot Noir, the classic aromas of soft summer fruit and plum enhanced by subtle hints of mushroom. The lingering cherry flavours meld seamlessly with touches of spicy oak and grainy tannins. Appealing, graceful, food-friendly wine.

LAKE CHALICE MARLBOROUGH Chardonnay 2012

was $19.90 now $16.99 13633

Forward riches lurk within, a mere twist of the cap away, and there's a slight nuttiness to the proceedings that sits comfortably alongside Chalice's own extrovert, the delightful Chris Gambitsis. Between the initial heady whiff of stonefruit and the lively citrus finish lies a field of creamily textured delights.

Single Malt fans are in for a treat this month with the arrival of Tullibardine in NZ. With a history dating right back to 1488, this boutique Highland Malt Distillery produces everything by hand, with the output purposely limited. The character of its malts comes in part from the spring water sourced from the basalt and red sandstone Ochil Hills formed 40 million years ago, and one can almost taste the centuries lined up behind these outstanding offerings.

DEMISTIFYING France Aromatics

Alsace is home to Pinots Gris and Blanc, Riesling, Sylvanner, Muscat and Gewürztraminer, while the Loire Valley plays host to Sauvignon Blanc. Alsatian wines are lauded for their richness, depth and ability to age gracefully. The French expression of Sauvignon is more restrained than our own, with a lovely subtlety and a sublime flinty minerality.

While the Italians have at last wrested the crown of World's Largest Wine Producer from France's reluctant grip, the French have decided, somewhat unsurprisingly, that size is no longer important. Their last two vintages have experienced a somewhat unfair share of natural disasters, challenging even the most hardened French winemaker to harden up even further. Being the French, there is still an ability to produce great wines from these years; there are just a lot less of them. 'Select judiciously and maintain the quality' has become their catchphrase, which is quite admirable, really.

In France, 'terroir' rules; it's all about where you've grown your grapes and the quality of the fruit to be found in that region. The wines are generally labelled to reflect this ethos, with region taking pride of place over all other factors. It can seem rather mysterious at times, but as we're all for taking the mystery out of things vinous, particularly when it comes to the French, we've grouped our offerings here into wine styles and grape varieties; 'quick 'n easy' is our catchphrase.

Glengarry have been importing French wines into New Zealand for three decades, which means that we've had the time to become experts. What sets us apart is the sheer amount of years we've spent honing our skills, expanding our ranges, reviewing our procedures, fostering relationships with our suppliers and refining our shipping techniques to ensure that the wines get to you in perfect condition.

Trust. It's a precious commodity that we never take for granted.

ALSACE PINOT BLANC 2010

WAS $26.00 NOW $18.99 41249

CASE OF 12 $18.49 A BOTTLE

What is Pinot Blanc? Roughly, it's the crispness of Riesling combined with the texture of Chardonnay and the fruity approach of a Pinot Gris. Fresh apple and pear flavours spar with a touch of spice and mineral.

THE LOIRE'S PASCAL JOLIVET

ROSÉ

Rosé is more than just a summer quaffer; the fine examples below illustrate the intensity, and indeed the surprising weight, of the French expressions. Made in various corners of France, one standout region is the Côtes de Provence with its beautiful vineyards scattered along the Mediterranean. Here, the varieties used are Cinsault and Grenache.

GISSSELBRECHT TRADITION ALSACE PINOT GRIS 2011

CASE OF 12 $21.49 A BOTTLE

Our top-selling Gris, from its spiritual home; indeed, the Alsations do aromatics in general to perfection. Entry-level this off-dry expression might be, but it still delivers superbly rich and spicy restraint and delicacy.

PIERRE BRECHT ALSACE PINOT GRIS 2010

CASE OF 12 $19.49 A BOTTLE

A year older than the Gisselbrecht, with very different vintage characteristics. Hints of honey and minerality lightly ride the lush palate; rich and spicy, the extra year in bottle has given it a lovely rounded resonance.

YVES CUILLERON RHÔNE VIOGNIER 2011

BUNAN BÉLOUVÉ CÔTES DE PROVENCE ROSÉ 2011

WAS $31.00 NOW $23.99 42748

CASE OF 12 $23.49 A BOTTLE

CHÂTEAU MONT-REDON LIRAC ROSÉ 2012

WAS $37.50 NOW $25.99 41389

CASE OF 12 $25.49 A BOTTLE

The only rosé on the page not from Côtes de Provence, Lirac is an appellation in the southern part of the Rhône Valley. The dominant variety there is Syrah, which is, by comparison, a bit richer and in possession of more tannin and structure, making for a nice change.

CHÂTEAU LÉOUBE ROSÉ DE LÉOUBE 2011

WAS $39.00 NOW $29.99 42749

CASE OF 12 $29.49 A BOTTLE

The Leoube property is spectacular, and conveniently comes with two private beaches on the Mediterranean. Everything is managed organically. When they're not lounging about on the sand, they make wine that's big and rich, with a sensuously silky, textural palate and incredible length.

Chardonnay & Chenin Blanc

Revered the world over, France's very finest Chardonnays are the white wines of Burgundy. Located at its very northern tip is Chablis, where the cooler climate produces a leaner, more mineral style, while lush, fruitier expressions can be found along France's warm southern coast. Chenin Blanc, the variety behind Vouvray, resides in the Loire Valley alongside Sauvignon Blanc.

There is currently great demand for the wines of Jean-Francois Bordet, 13th-generation winemaker behind this highly regarded domaine. A crisply rich wine with a delightful floral bouquet, a spicy palate showing lots of ripe fruit and a lovely creamy texture.

BOURILLON-DORLÉANS VOUVRAY SEC 2011

WAS $36.00 NOW $29.99 40977

CASE OF 12 $29.49 A BOTTLE

Frederic Bourillon makes magical Vouvray out of Chenin Blanc fruit; his honeyed, weighty, mouth-tingling wines abound with elegance and finesse. If you've tried Chenin before and it wasn't Vouvray, we urge you to give it another go; the real deal is simply sublime.

DOMAINE LAROCHE CHABLIS SAINT MARTIN 2011

WAS $48.90 NOW $39.99 48596

CASE OF 12 $39.49 A BOTTLE

2011 was an excellent vintage in Chablis. The Laroche style is one of precision and panache, and this has all that, with loads of rich fruit, a delightful chalky minerality and a super-long finish. It is drinking nicely, but would benefit from a few years in the cellar.

DOMAINE SÉGUINOT-BORDET WINEMAKER, JEAN-FRANCOIS BORDET

Cabernet & Merlot

Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot both call Bordeaux home, with the 2009 and 2010 vintages some of the region's finest ever. The vineyards on the Left Bank of the Gironde river are generally Cabernet dominant blends, the Right giving precedence to Merlot. Some very smart, ripe Cabernets are also produced on France's southern coast.

CHÂTEAU ROC DE SEGUR BORDEAUX 2010

WAS $22.90 NOW $14.99 41186

CASE OF 12 $14.49 A BOTTLE

Easy-drinking blend of Merlot and Cabernets Sauvignon and Franc. 2010 was a brilliantly ripe vintage, with good acidity and precision lending the wines vibrancy. Don't be fooled by the price tag; this is great drinking.

CHÂTEAU DE LUGAGNAC BORDEAUX SUPÉRIEUR 2009

WAS $38.00 NOW $21.99 42116

CASE OF 6 $21.49 A BOTTLE

Rated by many as the greatest vintage ever, 2009 was a year in which wines from top to bottom excelled, this favourably-priced, tasty blend of Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Cabernet Franc being no exception. Seductively supple and generously flavoured.

CHÂTEAU D'AGASSAC HAUT-MÉDOC 2008

WAS $49.90 NOW $39.99 41800

CASE OF 6 $39.49 A BOTTLE

Located in the Left Bank's Haut-Médoc appellation, d'Agassac can trace its origins back to the 11th century. The 2008 vintage is a good year for drinking early on, unlike many of the premium wines from 2009 and 2010 that demand more cellaring time.

CHÂTEAU BOURGNEUF
POMEROL 2009

WAS $99.00 NOW $69.99 41195

CASE OF 6 $69.49 A BOTTLE

Also from the Moueix portfolio, the Bourgneuf is ripe, luxuriant and silky-smooth. Ideally, you'd cellar it for three or four years, but if you intend to open it now, use a decanter and give it a little time to breathe.

REDS & BLENDS

France's ultimate appellation for blending is the Rhône's Châteauneuf-du-Pape, where thirteen different grape varieties are permitted, while the Côtes du Rhône wines are traditionally a blend of Grenache, Shiraz and Mourvèdre. In this selection you'll also find Beaujolais, made from the Gamay variety, and the brilliant wines from Minervois, where Carignan is king.

PINOT NOIR & SYRAH

Burgundy is home to the greatest Pinot Noir in the world. It all starts with the generic Bourgogne, made from grapes grown anywhere within the region. Next up are sub-regions like Côtes de Nuits, which use fruit only from that part of Burgundy. Above them are the village wines (represented here by Nuits-Saint-Georges and Volnay). Beyond that, you have the big-money Premier Cru and then Grand Cru wines derived from specific vineyard sites.

CASE OF 6 $69.49 A BOTTLE

Loving the Bellene Bourgogne and wondering if it can get any better? It certainly can, with the next step up the village level: from the village of Nuits-Saint-Georges, this complex and sensual Pinot Noir is vibrant and fragrant, with nice acidity and flair.

DOMAINE DE BELLENE
VOLNAY LES GRANDS POISOTS 2009

WAS $96.00 NOW $69.99 42825

CASE OF 6 $69.49 A BOTTLE

The village of Volnay produces wines that are rounder, with rich berryfruit characters; it's like comparing a Bannockburn Pinot Noir to one from Gibbston. This is a big, fragrant wine from a truly outstanding vintage, so it'll need a bit of time. Well worth it.

PINOT NOIR PRODUCTION IN BURGUNDY

The northern Rhône is where Syrah reigns supreme. Although the same variety, this is not 'Shiraz' as we know it from Australian offerings; there is, in fact, more similarity between French Syrah and our own expressions. A number of appellations in the north produce excellent Syrah (or Syrah-based) wines, including the villages of Vacqueyras and Cornas.

LE COLOMBIER

VACQUEYRAS VIEILLES VIGNES 2011

Vacqueyras is a village in the Rhône where Syrah is king and Le Colombyer a star in the Vacqueyras firmament. A richly fragrant cascade of silkily seductive cherry and blackcurrant flavours. Sits well above its price tag.

SPARKLING

CRAFT HARRINGTON'S

Christchurch's 22-year-old Harrington Brewery was established by John and Val Harrington on the Kilmore Street site originally occupied by the historic Ward's Brewery. In 1993 the brewery moved to the current premises in Ferry Street to meet growing demand for its products. Three generations of Harringtons are involved in the production of 26 beer styles. All the beers are batch brewed and free of artificial additives. The styles are bottled inhouse and include ales, lagers, limited releases and special edition beers, as well alcoholic and non-alcoholic ginger beers.

HARRINGTON'S BREWERS SELECTION ANVIL DRY HOPPED PILSNER

500mL SINGLE $7.99 91427

Dry Hopping is a British and US practice where whole dry hops are added after fermentation, imparting intense aromas of citrus-edged hop and malty characters to the brew. An unfiltered, strong, elegantly smooth Pilsner style with a refreshing, tangy finish. Gold medal at the 2011 Brewers Guild of New Zealand Awards.

CIDER ROCHDALE

Rochdale Cider has been one of New Zealand's most respected brands since the 1930s. Today, it is produced by the McCashin family at the original Stoke Brewery that Terry and Bev McCashin purchased in 1980. The ciders are made with extreme attention to detail, free of sugar, preservatives and gluten, using only pure artesian water and tree-ripened apples and pears sourced from local orchards. Rochdale's ciders typically display a light effervescent character that accentuates the pure fruit flavours.

164 YEARS OF INNOVATION AND EXCELLENCE

Founded in 1849 at Angaston in the heart of the Barossa Valley by Samuel Smith, the ground-breaking and highly respected Yalumba has been run since 1985 by fifth-generation descendent, Robert Hill Smith.

On taking over the reins, Robert stated: 'Our goal is to be the finest independent winemaker in the Australian wine industry.' Today, thanks in part to his outward-looking global aspirations and future oriented oversight, Yalumba find themselves at the very forefront of premium wine production and an established world leader.

In 2010, Wine Enthusiast named Yalumba 'New World Winery of the Year.' Behind Yalumba's success is the innovative, progressive approach and commitment to quality that permeates every level of the company's operations. They are one of the few wine companies in the world with an on-site cooperage and their own vine nursery.

The result of this huge commitment to quality is that Yalumba's wine portfolio, at every price point, is studded with outstanding offerings.
