We like the look of this: a champagne created to be served over ice and enjoyed whenever the fancy takes you. The Moët & Chandon Ice Impérial is technically a demi-sec champagne, meaning that the sugar level is somewhere between 33 and 50gm, quite a bit more than your standard brut, which runs at less than 12gm/l. Demi-sec champagnes are, though, rather glorious we think, a brilliant accompaniment to desserts and rich pâtés or terrines. We're loving the white livery too.

These days, brut styles rule the roost, and we don't see the demi-secs put in much of an appearance. So, we're rather taken with the fact that Moët have created this, the first champagne designed to be drunk over ice and garnished like a cocktail. The key here is to follow the ritual with precision: Take a large glass (not a champagne flute), fill it with ice, pour the chilled Moët Ice over the top and garnish with mint and cucumber.

And there you have it, the perfect companion for those long, languid summer days that are on their way (yes, yes, although it's raining/hailing/snowing even as we write this, we know we're going to wake up any day now to find they've arrived).

What else is up within? A bit of schooling, actually, as we run you, from A-Z, through an alphabet of assorted wine facts, Kiwi style. Our featured winery also hails from godzone in the form of Hawkes Bay's historic and highly regarded Church Road. These guys know how to do quality across the board.

Enjoy.

is for ant

We couldn't resist: it reminded us of our very first school reader, way back in... anyway, moving on, Ant Moore produces superb artisan expressions from prime locations around New Zealand.

ANT MOORE CENTRAL OTAGO PINOT NOIR 2012

10564 $21.99

CASE OF 12 $19.99 A BOTTLE

While the Antman's main playground is located in Marlborough, we love his take on Central Otago. With fingers in numerous pies, he was always going to know where the best fruit was. Raspberries, cherries and subtle gamey notes ride the smoothly strong, ripe tannins. A slight hint of oak at the finish. Warm and moreish.

is for biodynamic

A holistic system of organics developed by Rudolf Steiner, this is all the rage, y'know, with some very reputable devotees along for the ride. Looking out for the planet? Has to be good.

MILLTON GISBORNE CHARDONNAY 2013

14626 $15.99

CASE OF 6 $14.99 A BOTTLE

James and Annie Millton have been making this little gem for as long as we can remember, and to celebrate the 30th vintage of their estate Chard, they've labelled it with the original label. An exceptional wine, the 2013 is spiced up with a little Viognier and Marsanne, and we reckon that tastes just fine.

A cheeky wine? Why not? It doesn't come much cheekier than the Tongue and Groovers. We didn't come up with the name, so don't you take that tone with us.

TONGUE AND GROOVE WAIPARA VALLEY RIESLING 2012

19934 $32.99

CASE OF 6 $29.99 A BOTTLE

So much to love in just one package. Angela Clifford is the voice behind our local Summer of Riesling movement, and the talented Lynette Hudson (ex-Pegasus Bay) is the winemaker. Channelling Waipara fruit left on the vine until optimum ripeness is achieved, this is gorgeous, rich, textured and lovely. Right now.

Some like their vinos on the dry side, the lip-smacking crispness and elevated subtleties most appealing in the warmer months. Which is good news really, given their imminent arrival.

TERRA SANCTA MIRO'S BLOCK DRY RIESLING 2012

11104 $24.99

CASE OF 12 $23.99 A BOTTLE

A good dry Riesling is becoming hard to find, but here's one, made from just seven rows of Miro's Block on Terra Sancta's Felton Road vineyard in Central. You want dry? This is it: crisp, pure, precise, and although technically bone dry, the fruit ripeness adds a weight and balance that may leave you wondering.

is for elegant

Everyone likes a bit of elegance. Makes you feel like you're at the top table where the good stuff is. And a fine Pinot Gris, with its suave aromatics and beguiling textures, is the genuine article.

PEREGRINE CENTRAL OTAGO PINOT GRIS 2014

17112 $24.99

CASE OF 6 $23.99 A BOTTLE

Fruit from the Cromwell Basin, cool fermented and lees-aged in stainless steel to retain freshness and textural complexity. Stonefruit and pear aromas are edged with mineral notes, while the off-dry palate explodes with tropical flavours tarted up with grapefruit and quietened slightly by firm acid. Appealingly sensuous.

is for fizzy

We love fizzy – in fact, we have the biggest, fizziest collection in the land. The French, of course, do it spectacularly, but hey, more and more, so does NZ. Here are some examples to back that up.

is for gorgeous

Gorgeous makes us think of stunning attire and good hair days. And wines like these, of course. A glass of rosé + a deck in the sun = a little bit of the French Riviera in your own backyard.

ROCKBURN STOLEN KISS ROSÉ 2014

14371 $24.99

CASE OF 12 $23.99 A BOTTLE

This stuff is as rare as hen's teeth; once a year it comes through the door, and then it's gone, just like that, an indication of just how overwhelmingly popular it is. Rockburn do rosé as well as they do Pinot Noir, so it's top of the line, then. One of New Zealand's finest; try it once and you'll be back for more.

is for hilarious

It's generally agreed around here that Duncan Forsyth is hilarious. Take a teflon suit, an acerbic wit, throw in a collection of live pigs and you have one brilliant and highly individual winemaker.

MOUNT EDWARD THE DRUMLIN RIESLING 2014

12539 $29.99

CASE OF 12 $28.99 A BOTTLE

The weight of expectation hangs heavily: it's Duncan. The opulent nose is a wave of citrus, musk and blossom, heralding a wondrous array of flavours. The sweetness lounges like a background ambient Eno album, never interfering with the main event of luscious balance and harmony. Brimming with excellence.

SAUVIGNON BLANC 2014

13107 $16.99

CASE OF 12 $15.99 A BOTTLE

Follows on in fine style from the much-lauded 2011 Sauvignon Blanc. Notes of grapefruit and lime beguile the nose, while the lively palate is a treasure trove of intense, concentrated flavours woven together by complex mineral characters. Signs off with a satisfyingly long and juicy finish.

JULES TAYLOR
GISBORNE CHARDONNAY 2013

11580 $19.99

CASE OF 12 $18.99 A BOTTLE

A delicious nose of fragrant lemons, stonefruit and baked bread delivered in smartly understated fashion. Lovely flavours on the palate, an oaky richness that isn't cloying and a well-controlled delivery of treats lining up for the elegant finish. Flaunts a feminine quality that's Burgundian rather than boyish. Delightful.

KATE RADBURND
VINE VELVET PINOT NOIR 2013

12607 $14.99

CASE OF 12 $13.99 A BOTTLE

There is general agreement that Kate Radburnd is one clever winemaker. Using Marlborough fruit, the Vine Velvet Pinot is approachable and stylish. The soft, sweet summer fruit entry is balanced by some grainy tannins, while the lovely silky, savoury lines of flavour leap to a bright, bounding finish. Good value drinking.

These are Marlborough originals, their cellar door now the oldest in the region. Patrick Stowe's obsession with excellence is well displayed in his elegant top-tier Pinot Noir. Ned blushes a little pink, to remind us of the original skin-tone of the grapes, a doffed cap to pedigree, perhaps. CHURCH ROAD

Taradale's Church Road goes back a fair way, originally established in 1897 by ex-Marist Brother Bartholomew Steinmetz. Returning to his native Luxembourg in the 1920s, he left it in the hands of its soon to be owner, the now legendary Tom McDonald, who went on to produce a series of quality-driven Cabernet Sauvignons 60-odd years ago.

McDonald was well ahead of his time, but his passion for producing outstanding wines continues to flourish at this historic winery. These days Church Road operates under the Pernod Ricard banner as a high-end, boutique-type winery. The winemaking team led by Chris Scott, who has worked at Church Road since 1998, draw upon a superb range of varietals sourced from some of Hawkes Bay's top vineyard sites.

Their wines are delineated into specific groupings that best express the variety and its place of origin, delivering top quality at every price point.

LE COLOMBIER Giants of Vacqueyras

A largely undiscovered gem to instil delight. Located in the southern Rhône village of Vacqueyras, this historic property is managed by Jean-Louis Mourre, his father and grandfather having purchased the property in 1963. The family had been winemakers in Algeria since the 19th century, but when Algiers gained its independence from France the Mourres returned to their ancestral roots in the southern Rhône.

Jean-Louis took the reins in 1996, and under his tenure the wines have become astronomically good. He does have some pretty good tools to work with; the cellar and vines are some of the oldest in the village, with the domaine's holdings now expanded to 31 hectares across several appellations. Le Colombier produce very good wines across the board, but it is the signature Vacqueyras wines that really stand out. Robert Parker has hailed these as 'stars of the appellation, outrageous steals and brilliant examples of Vacqueyras.'

TOSTI

Two centuries of sparkle

Back in the 16th century, a German mercenary soldier returning home from a raid on Rome settled in Piedmont's Canelli region to farm the land. Herr Bosch's descendants continued to farm and plant vines, and in 1820 Giovanni Bosca (Bosch having been Italianised to Bosca) established the family winery.

From these humble beginnings, the company estates today cover over 9,000 hectares, with the fruit processed at their state-of-the-art winery in Canelli. While the wines were originally marketed as Giovani Bosca, in 1955 the Tosti brand was created to provide the sparkling portfolio with its own distinctive identity.

Run today by seventh generation Giovanni Bosca, this family-operated company continue to deliver quintessential wines from the heart of the Moscato Bianco zone.
