For over 75 years, our family has been bringing
New Zealand the best of the world's wines, beers & spirits
Four generations on, we're still going strong

As this most difficult of years draws ever nearer to a close, we're sending out our best wishes to all of you and hope that a bit of healing is on its way via the summer that's coming. A big shout-out, too, to all our hardworking toilers at the coalface, from the courageous doctors and nurses in our hospitals and the volunteers in our vaccination facilities to the dedicated couriers who have been doing their best to get a deluge of deliveries out while many of us have remained sequestered in our homes.

Heading into Christmas, we're doing a feature on our Top 20 Finds Under $15. These are no ordinary low-priced vinos – in true Glengarry style we've headed out into the world and expended considerable effort seeking out wines that deliver far more than their low price would suggest. We've fastidiously separated the wheat from the chaff to bring you a selection of wines for summer and the festive season that really do the business.

Of course, there's a lot more to follow that up, with some brilliant champagne offers, tasty deals from New Zealand and Australian winemaking legends, stylish gifting ideas, very cool natural wines, and some truly epic spirit offers. If you're a whisky aficionado, you're going to like what you find inside.

From our family to yours: have a safe and happy summer. We'll continue to bring the best the world has to offer to your door.

SAINT-MEYLAND

While there is no shortage of bottle-fermented sparkling wines around made in the same way as champagne, versions that are good value for money are rather more scarce. Some time ago, we went searching in France for a sparkling wine made in the traditional way that met our value-taste-quality criteria. Now a consistent crowd favourite, the only problem we have with the Saint-Meyland is keeping it in stock.

SPARKLING

This classy French méthode drinks like champagne for a fraction of the price

43010

SAINT-MEYLAND
MÉTHODE
TRADITIONNELLE

NV | $14.99

Created using the same method of production as the champagne houses that reside a mere cork trajectory away, this French méthode traditionnelle is all class, the rich, yeasty toastiness declaring its irresistible credentials. A great option for when you're hosting a group of friends and want to pour stylish bubbles without the expense.

PERELADA
BLUE FESTIVAL
BRUT CAVA

NV | $13.99

A reserve cava made from Spanish varieties Xarel-lo, Macabeo & Parellada, this offers amazing value considering the extended aging process it underwent before disgorgement. An exercise in control and balance, the Blue Festival is round, rich and mouthfilling.

CASE OF 6 $12.99/BOTTLE

PERELADA

The Perelada castle has been involved with winemaking since Carmelite monks were there in the 14th century. With its viticultural activities revitalised, Perelada is one of Spain's most significant producers, the wines a scintillating blend of centuries of knowledge and cutting-edge modernism. While focus is on the famous cavas of Penedès, the company also craft a range of premium-quality still wines.

YALUMBA

Established in 1849, Yalumba is Australia's most historic family owned winery. It remains fiercely independent through its generational ownership by the Hill-Smith family. Behind Yalumba's success is the innovative, progressive approach and commitment to quality that permeates every level of their operations. One of the few companies in the world with an on-site cooperage and their own vine nursery, Yalumba's portfolio is studded with outstanding offerings at every price point.

Leaves you wanting another glass.

TIM ADAMS | TIM ADAMS WINES

MR MICK

The family owned and operated Tim Adams Wines have, through their hard work and dedication, emerged as one of Clare Valley's leading producers, with owner Tim Adams still at the helm as Chief Winemaker. The wines are characterised by their elegance and sense of place, and they are the regular recipients of global awards and accolades. Tim's Mr Mick range is a tip of the hat to his mentor and the revered pioneer of the modern Australian wine industry, Mick Knappstein.

SANTA JULIA

The winery of Julia Zuccardi, Santa Julia strive to produce wines that express Argentina's unique characters while maintaining a strong commitment to the environment. With three vineyard areas, two of which are now certified organic, the longterm goal is for 100% Certification. All of the water used in the winery is repurposed for irrigation and only natural fertilizers are used, with impressive recycling and programmes to reduce waste.

CHÂTEAU HAUT PINGAT BORDEAUX

2019 | $14.99

The forward, fruit-driven 2019 vintage sits in the middle of a trio of triumphant years for Bordeaux. An attractive, easy-drinking red wine that's ready to enjoy now. Spicy and rounded with fine tannins, juicy acidity and plenty of blackcurrant fruitiness. Great value.

CHÂTEAU HAUT-PINGAT

At Glengarry we love a good Bordeaux. The legendary French region produces outstanding wines that command a wide price spectrum. Château Haut Pingat is a boutique Bordeaux producer working from a small family estate in the heart of the Entre-deux-Mers area. Exclusively selected and imported by Glengarry, their wine has become a star of our Bordeaux section thanks to its exceptional value.

EMILIANA

Emiliana are lauded for their innovative ecological and social approaches. They employ interlocking vineyard ecosystems within which animals, insects and plants all play a part in the maintenance of vineyard balance, acting as natural pesticides, weed killers and compost producers. Emiliana's workers are guaranteed a fair wage and offered scholarships. They are taught how to handle organic gardens and provided with land to grow their own fruit and vegetables for their families.

2019 | $14.99

Californian Mark Shannon nursed an affection for the Primitivo grape that rapidly turned into an obsession. In California, the Primitivo variety is known as Zinfandel. The A-Mano expression offers an exuberant nose of raspberry and spice, with a vibrant, full-bodied palate of blackberry and blueberry flavours, lovely concentration and a long, lingering finish.

MARK SHANNON | A-MANO WINEMAKER

A-MANO

Californian Mark Shannon went to Puglia for a short holiday with Friuli native Elvezia Sbalchiero. Entranced by the region with its fresh, uncomplicated cuisine and timeless approach to living, the pair made it their home and established A-Mano to craft their handmade, affordable wines. 'To make expensive wines is contrary to our way of thinking,' says Elvezia. Superb value, fruit forward wines made with much passion and flair.

PASQUA

For 80 years, the Pasqua family have dedicated themselves to producing high-quality grapes and making great value wines that artfully express the character of the Italian wine regions. While they produce exceptional value entry-level wines, Pasqua also have a reputation for crafting beautifully made, top-end and Amarone-style expressions. Things have gone next level with the company now in the hands of the third generation, with Carlotta, Riccardo, Alessandro, Cecilia and Giovanni covering different aspects of the business.

RIOJA

A searingly modern Rioja boasting a silky succulence and super savoury quality. Easy-drinking, great value

89814

FINCA NUEVA
VENDIMIA RIOJA
2018 | $14.99

Made from 100% Tempranillo grapes, with silky, savoury flavours and a juicy acidity. Vivid aromatics of red fruits, with violet notes and hints of liquorice. The palate is fresh, fruit-driven and youthfully intense, offering soft tannins and an alluring texture. Tapa territory.

FINCA NUEVA

The younger sibling of Rioja's almost mythical Allende winery, creation of one of Spain's finest winemakers, Miguel Ángel de Gregorio, and his sister Mercedes. Finca Nueva was created when the site, initially purchased for Allende, proved so unique, the new winery was established to accommodate it. The winery's expressions are fruitier, less serious and more immediately accessible than those of Allende, crafted with newer generations of wine drinkers in mind.

VIÑA SALCEDA

Located in the Rioja region in northern Spain, Viña Salceda is based in the picturesque town of Elciegom with the vineyards located on higher-altitude, cooler slopes. These characteristics, together with the relatively high rainfall and long ripening period, contribute to the elegance of the Salceda wines. Owned since 1998 by the Chivite family from neighbouring Navarra, with a winemaking history dating back to 1647, these are wines that are internationally lauded and awarded.

CHAMPAGNE
Moutard

These brilliant champagnes are superb value

While Moutard may lack the fame of some of the other marques, their softly textured wines are nonetheless very impressive, and flying, as they do, somewhat under the radar, they offer exceptional value. The Moutard-Diligent family can trace their history of viticulture as far back as 1642, but it was not until the 1920s that they began producing champagne under their own name.

Along with Pinot Noir, Pinot Meunier and Chardonnay, the family is one of the few to still nurture the permitted Arbane, Petit Meslier and Pinot Blanc grapes, instilling these almost forgotten varieties with a new lease of life. The non-vintage wines are all aged for at least three years, the vintage and prestige champagnes for ten to fifteen. Both Moutard's rosé and Grande Cuvée non-vintage bottlings are produced from 100% Pinot Noir, with additional complexity achieved through the use of older reserve stocks. The Grande Cuvée is a stand-out wine, wonderfully fresh, with a creamy texture and the weight and presence to accompany food.

MOUTARD RICHARDOT VIEILLES VIGNES
 BRUT NATURE NV | $77.99 | 40446

We admit to thinking this was a champagne of far greater value. Limited to 6,711 bottles, it's a Blanc de Noir, or 100% Pinot Noir. The almost 50-year-old vines of the Richardot vineyard deliver immense concentration and complexity to what is a supremely special champagne.

Ayala

This historic house produces champagnes of elegance & purity

Ayala is one of Champagne's originals, at the heart of the Grands Crus in Aÿ since 1860, when it was founded by Edmond de Ayala, a pioneer of the drier style. Chardonnay is its iconic grape, with Ayala's wines lauded for their freshness, purity and elegance. Grapes are hand harvested from more than 70 different crus in Champagne's best terroirs, with each variety, each cru and each vintage vinified separately to preserve their unique qualities.

From this rich selection, Chef de Cave Caroline Latrive and her small team compose the blends that define the complex and balanced Ayala style. The Chardonnay variety holds a central place in Caroline's blends, introducing a delicate freshness and an ethereal character to the wines. The purity of the style finally resides in the minimalist dosage employed, with extended aging developing a beautiful aromatic complexity.

Caroline Latrive: 'I have this passion for Chardonnay; this grape variety charms me with all its facets. It always surprises me with all its tones of expression.'

CHAMPAGNE

In Champagne, a good number of small, family-run enterprises craft their own wines from their vineyards. The wines are often bottled on the premises and come in a diverse range of styles reflecting the idiosyncrasies of their particular terroir. The individuality of these boutique styles sets them apart, and many aficionados are developing a taste for these smaller scale, hand-crafted champagne styles.

CHAMPAGNE jLassalle

Champagne's different dynasty

Located just outside Reims, boutique producer J Lassalle is run by three generations of women, with 50% of the small-scale, 120,000-bottle production heading to the United States. Lassalle led the way, the first of the Growers to really make waves in that market.

Production is very traditional, with stainless steel, no use of oak, malolactic and 8-9g/L dosage. They have 16ha of vineyard, all in Premier and Grand Cru and divided into 45 different parcels (48% Pinot Meunier, 30% Chardonnay and 22% Pinot Noir). The vineyards were planted by cellar master Angéline Templier's late grandfather, Jules Lassalle, with the company officially becoming a partnership between grandmother Olga, mother Chantal and daughter Angéline in 2006.

There's a definitive house style to the Lassalle wines, one of delicacy, freshness and unassailable quality. Each step of the winemaking process is based on carefully adhered to family techniques, with each cuvée aged for between four and ten years before release.

Festively CATERED

We match a trio of recipes from our intrepid Glengarry team with an equally fabulous wine. The rest is up to you

Clam Linguine

2 tablespoons Himalayan salt
12 garlic cloves
100g sourdough, crusts removed, cut into ½-inch pieces (or breadcrumbs)
2 tablespoons plus ¼ cup olive oil, plus more for serving
2 teaspoons finely grated lemon zest
½ teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes, & more for serving
½ cup dry white wine
1kg clams, scrubbed
340g linguine
finely chopped parsley
50g Unsalted butter

- 1 | Bring a pot of salted water to boil
- 2 | Heat 2 tbsp of oil in a large casserole dish on medium-high. Add breadcrumb mixture, 3 garlic cloves of minced garlic and cook, stirring often, until crumbs are golden and crisp. Add lemon zest, season with salt, and toss to combine. Set aside.
- 3 | Thinly slice the remaining 9 garlic cloves. Heat ¼ cup oil in a large fry pan. Cook garlic, stirring often, until golden around the edges. Add ½ tsp of red pepper flakes and cook. Quickly stir in wine and simmer. Chuck clams in and toss to combine. Cover and cook until clams are open, 5–7 minutes. Uncover pot and transfer clams to a medium bowl, leaving liquid in pot. If any clams are still closed, cover pot again and cook a few minutes longer, then transfer to bowl with others (discard any that have not opened at this point). Cover clams with foil.
- 4 | Cook pasta in boiling water 5 minutes. Using a ladle, scoop out about 2 cups of pasta water. Using tongs transfer pasta to the pot with clam liquid. Add 1 cup of pasta cooking liquid and bring to a boil. Cook, tossing constantly and adding more pasta cooking liquid a splash at a time if needed, until pasta is al dente and sauce is glossy and thick enough to cling to noodles.

- 5 | Remove from heat. Add parsley and butter and toss until butter is melted. Sprinkle about a ⅓ of breadcrumbs over pasta and toss to combine. Divide pasta and top with reserved clams, more breadcrumbs, red pepper flakes, and a drizzle of oil.

Vanilin Riflice

*Traditional Croatian almond & vanilla
sugar biscuit from the kitchen of family Matriarch
Monika Jakicevich*

75g sugar
1 egg
2 drops of Vanilla Essence
Zest of half an orange
Zest of half a lemon
1/8 grated nutmeg
70g butter
100g almond meal
100g self-raising flour

1 | Preheat oven to 175°C. Mix sugar, egg, vanilla, orange and lemon rind and grated nutmeg in a large mixing bowl until combined. Add butter and mix, followed by mixing in the almond meal. Add enough flour to get a dough-like consistency. As in most Croatian recipes, you simply get a feel for what's right rather than a fixed quantity. Combine and knead the mixture. Leave to rest for 5-10 mins.

2 | Sprinkle flour onto a work surface and softly combine all the ingredients until it holds its shape. Roll a cherry tomato quantity of the dough into a tubular shape. Form a crescent shape and place biscuits about 2cm apart onto a baking tray lined with non-stick baking paper. If the batter is sticky, add more flour so when rolling the mixture between your hands none should be sticking.

3 | Bake in the middle of the oven for approximately 8 minutes. Check the base of the biscuit – if golden brown remove from oven. Place biscuits in an oven-safe dish. When all batches have been baked return to the oven and bake at 100°C for a further 5 minutes until biscuits become crispy. Sprinkle with icing sugar or caster sugar and store in an airtight container.

TIP | the dough can be prepared and wrapped in cling film and refrigerated to be shaped and baked the following day.

FRIENDS WITH ATTITUDE

Four of our most exciting winemakers embark on a joint venture exploring the potential of one special vineyard

52278

F.W.A. INC PISA TERRACE CENTRAL OTAGO PINOT NOIR 2019

4-PACK | $189.00

In a year of unalleviated sameness, this might be one of the most exciting innovations in the local wine scene. It begins with one piece of dirt – a vineyard in the Pisa sub-region of Central Otago. Situated in the Cromwell Basin on a terrace against the Mount Pisa range and to the west of Lake Dunstan, the Pisa Terrace vineyard is subject to dramatic climate swings, the slowly elevating daytime temperatures co-existing with cool nights that can descend into frost. Sited on a bed of ancient rock and gravel, the organically-maintained vineyard is Biogro certified.

Into this singular terroir insert four gifted winemakers: Zephyr's Ben Glover, Dicey's Matt Dicey, Mount Edward's Duncan Forsyth and Maude's Sarah Kate Dineen. If they were a band, it would probably be a supergroup.

Collectively referred to as F.W.A. inc, the four winemakers all took a parcel of the same Pinot Noir fruit off the same vineyard, then went home to their individual cellars to craft their unique interpretation. The resulting creations come in a cool 4-pack – one of each of the individually-labelled wines – that you'll find available online and instore (when instore is a thing) at Glengarry.

All four winemakers will make a combined appearance via Zoom to host a tasting of the four wines alongside their estate wines from the same year. A special exploration of Central Otago Pinot Noir unlike any other.

1.5 LITRE Magnums

The versatile magnum is not just about 'double the fun'

All in all, there's plenty to like about being the owner of a magnum of something good. Wine ages more slowly in larger bottles, so the 1.5 litre magnum is going to keep your wine fresher and more youthful. It also means that once you've opened it, with the use of a good stopper you can revisit it over several days. Less oxygen between the wine and the cork means the wine oxidizes more slowly than it does in a standard bottle, thereby retaining added flavour and nuance, an aspect that makes the magnum ideal for cellaring. With champagne, magnums also assist the wine to actually gain flavour, the yeast having more room to spread out and do its work. And then there's the sharing with friends aspect. Not just fun, versatile too.

Chapel Down

The sparkling maestros do stylish spirits as well

Not content with making sparkling wine good enough to get the great houses of Champagne looking nervously across the Channel, Kent-based winery Chapel Down have also launched a delicious range of gins and vodka. Produced from the grapes they were already growing, these are intended as nods to the Chapel Down style and to express the varieties that make them, in much the same way you'd expect from a quality wine. The Bacchus gin takes its name from the native English grape that supplies its base spirit. Botanicals including coriander, elderflower and orange peel have been carefully selected to enhance and reflect the natural citrus and floral flavours found in Bacchus wine.

Chapel Down's Pinot Noir gin is billed as the world's first of its kind. A distillate produced from Pinot Noir is blended with English wheat spirit, then matched by botanicals intended to enhance the natural character. Rosebuds, dried red berries and rosehip augment the ubiquitous juniper. The result is a gin not quite like any other sharing a similar shade of salmon, and indeed Chapel Down themselves shy away from calling it a pink gin; this is proudly and distinctively a Pinot Noir gin.

Completing the trio is the Chardonnay vodka, triple distilled from the Chardonnay skins left over from sparkling wine production, resulting in a smooth, light vodka of citrus and stonefruit flavours. Shaped like a traditional wine bottle and featuring a frosted upper over a clear cut glass lower half, the Chapel Down spirits bottles are stunningly (and award-winningly!) beautiful. | DL

Darnley's

These uncompromising gins use the best of everything

Darnley's Gin is made by independent Scottish whisky producers, Wemyss Malts. In 1565 Mary Queen of Scots spied her future husband, Lord Darnley, through the courtyard window at Wemyss Castle. Looking towards Edinburgh, the castle has been the family seat for over six centuries. From this marriage came a prince who united the thrones of England and Scotland. The family's desire is also to combine the best of both countries and create a unique natural London Dry gin from their old family recipe. Many of the botanicals come from their farm cottage garden in the village of Kingsbarns, the elderflower still from the Castle estate. These are steeped in the base spirit, allowing the essential oils and flavours to be released. No additional flavours or sugars are added after distillation, only purified Scottish water. | RM

WILLIAM AND ISABELLA WEMYSS | WEMYSS MALTS

THE WORLD OF Wemyss

The Wemyss siblings have created a whisky powerhouse

Approaching row upon row of whisky bottles on the shelf can be a daunting experience. If you haven't ventured there too often, the exchange can sometimes be overwhelming. Navigating the world of whiskies and knowing what you'll get inside the bottle before you've cracked it open is a rare talent. For those just starting out, an understanding of flavour is the first thing you want to master. Forging this modern approach to whisky drinking are brands like Wemyss Malts, who lead with flavour first, attracting both the experienced and the casual drinker.

Headed up by brother and sister William and Isabella Wemyss, the Edinburgh-based independent bottler and blender has, over the last two decades, developed into an award-winning, handcrafted Scotch Whisky powerhouse. The Wemyss family (pronounced Weems) doesn't lack in legacy either, their involvement with the Scotch industry dating back to the 1840s and the growing of high-quality barley within the Kingdom of Fife. To this day, those same barley fields continue to supply the very best grain to maltsters for their Scotch malt whisky production.

With Wemyss Malts, there's a dram for everyone. It's easy to admire their bright array of expressions and colours, especially when it's backed up with quality spirit. Unapologetically showcasing their distinctive flavour styles, the new branding of the core range is impactful and bold. You might try the sweet and vibrant Hive neat or in a cloudy lemonade highball. Made for the curious, Spice King has a fantastic mouthfeel and matches perfectly with ginger ale. For those harbouring a thing for a smoky whisky, Peat Chimney will not disappoint, the fresh, astutely balanced hit of citrus destined to win over the faintest of hearts. All this is done, of course, in the name of you finding your own individual style and learning to trust your palate. Enjoy the adventure. | AJ

WEMYSS VELVET FIG BLENDED MALT SCOTCH WHISKY AGED 25 YEARS

700ML | $249

Rich & fruity with a velvety mouthfeel, this is one of the finest blended malts to come out of Wemyss

A luxurious whisky built to impress. Showing no sharp edges, it's one of the finest vattings of casks to come out of the Wemyss portfolio. Vating is the process where single malt casks from different distilleries are blended together.

Five ex-sherry hogshead casks of 1994 vintage Speyside and Highland single malts were blended together with 15 ex-sherry casks of 1988 vintage unpeated Bunnabhain single malt, then transferred to 14 refill hogsheads to marry for 16 months.

93896 | WEMYSS THE HIVE
BLENDED MALT SCOTCH WHISKY
700ML | $78.99

Zesty citrus and honeyed flavours, notes of vanilla, florals and spice. A smooth, rounded malt whisky for those with a taste for a touch of sweetness.

93900 | WEMYSS PEAT CHIMNEY
BLENDED MALT SCOTCH WHISKY
700ML | $78.99

Aromatic notes of heather smoke, apricot and orange peel. A flinty freshness edged with warm peat smoke gives way to hints of toasty apple and pear crumble.

MAT THOMSON | THOMSON WHISKY

the world beating Thomson

Thomson & Glengarry team up on a new whisky

Over the past decade, New Zealand has experienced a whisky renaissance that has nurtured the emergence of new distilleries. Whisky making here is not a new undertaking, dating back to the 1830s when the first Scottish settlers landed with their whisky expertise. The most famous distillery, Willowbank, was mothballed in 1997, an event that marked the end of local whisky production for many years.

Parts of the Willowbank distillery were disassembled, destined for different parts of the world. Laid up in warehouses, Willowbank's remaining barrels of whisky had another life to live. Some of them ended up in the hands of keen, young distiller, Mat Thomson. Thus Thomson Whisky was launched into the New Zealand market, releasing these old single malts as independent bottlers.

Back in the days when Thomson Whisky was just a gleam in the Thomson eye, Mat and Rachael Thomson started attending the Glengarry Malt Club. Little did they know when they wandered into Jak Jakicevich's monthly whisky tastings that they were embarking on a lifetime of whisky devotion. Rachael's passion and marketing smarts merged seamlessly with Mat's tenacious tendencies and a good old Kiwi do-it-yourself attitude to find the whisky, beat the copper still and sell it to the world.

It was only a matter of time until the Thomson and the Jakicevich families released something together; both have the whisky-loving bug, and both hail from the mighty West Auckland. This special limited bottling celebrates the connection and meeting of spirits: two barrels harmoniously married together, made from locally-grown, unsmoked malted barley, distilled through hand-beaten copper pot stills and matured in New Zealand wine casks, then finished in Tennessee whiskey barrels.

The Grain & Grape is beautifully golden in the glass and a nutty indulgence on the nose. The palate is clean and vibrant, exuding a feeling of summer with its notes of apricot and zesty fruits, the full spectrum of balanced flavours enhanced with a kiss of Tennessee. A strong backbone of whisky and wood extract the distiller's perfection. Thomson's following is growing across the world. If you haven't yet tried these highly acclaimed single malts, well, what are you waiting for? | AJ

The New Zealand Whisky Collection

We grab the last barrel of NZWC's historic collection

When Dunedin's Willowbank Distillery ceased operations in 1997 it was the end of an era stretching back to 1974, and for a time the end of whisky distillation in New Zealand. Willowbank's many thousands of litres of whisky still aging away in cask were auctioned off or stored away safely, with the NZ Whisky Company buying the last 443 barrels in 2010. Since then NZWC have blended and bottled several releases from that original purchase, with many of them winning international acclaim.

As all good things must though, the old Willowbank stocks are coming to an end. Here at Glengarry, we are proud and excited to have our hands exclusively on the very last selection – Cask 565: 18 years old and bottled at cask strength. A piece of Kiwi whisky history, but even more than that an absolutely delicious dram. This is one for the collectors and the enjoyers alike, so don't be slow.

For the NZ Whisky Company the future is very bright. With new general manager and head distiller Michael Byars at the helm, they have returned whisky production to Dunedin with a brand new distillery being set up within the walls of Speight's Brewery. Look out for their water-of-life in the near future, and get excited – Glengarry's own bossman and knower of all things whisky, Jak Jakicevich, declares it the finest new make spirit he has yet tasted. | DL

SILVERDALE

DEEP CREEK

Would you like your own Deep Creek beer koozie?

Nestled in the Hub of the Hibiscus Coast, aka Silverdale, Deep Creek is one of NZ's premier microcraft breweries. Their mantra is to produce the best quality beers possible across a broad spectrum of flavours and styles, and to have fun while doing it. An adventurous spirit keeps them pushing forward, exploring the unknown and redefining previously brewed beers. Not satisfied with quenching only Kiwi thirsts, Deep Creek caught the Big Kahuna and cracked into the international stage, not just across the ditch, but into the more distant pastures of Asia and Europe.

As we inch ever closer to summer, make it an unbeatable one: any two Deep Creek six-packs will include a beer koozie to keep that cold one cold. | KA

8 WIRED

Søren Eriksen started his brewing career with a tin of brewing malt syrup, a packet of yeast and a kitchen. Emigrating to New Zealand for the favourable brewing climate, Søren started out in established breweries, eventually building the capital needed to launch 8 Wired. Known for pushing the boundaries, 8 wired has seen great success building one of New Zealand's first dedicated barrel aging programs. They remain one of our most highly regarded craft breweries, their stouts and aged sour beers particularly sought after. | PC
